

ldadr • Learning Disabilities
Association of Durham Region

The right to learn, the power to achieve

Presents...

Where does AT fit into my IEP?

Thursday, April 27th 2017

7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Room 106

Trent University Durham

55 Thornton Road South

(next to the Civic Recreation Complex)

Oshawa

All are welcome – No registration or fee required

Presentation: AT or Assistive Technology is an important tool for children with LD. It is crucial that a student's AT needs and strategies be fully integrated in the IEP. In this workshop, Speech-Language Pathologists Julie Sorhaitz and Lee-Ann Kant will discuss ways that parents and students can help design an IEP that includes the AT strategies that work best for them. In addition, parents and students will learn how to work with the school to implement these AT strategies in the classroom.

This is brought to you by LDADR as part of our monthly speaker series.

hosted by

Learning Disabilities Association of Durham Region

www.ldadr.on.ca

info@ldadr.on.ca